AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

PRESIDENT BOYCE, OF THE MINERS ASSOCIATION, IN TRISCO.

The Indian Trouble in Montana—A Disastrous Rain Storm in New York—The Louisiana State Lottery Company Working for a New Charter.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Police officer V. Parker, who last Decoration Day stopped the runaway horses attached to a carriage in which were seated General R. A. Alger, of Detroit, Congressman John P. Dolliver, and ex-Judge Van Hoesen, to-day received a handsome silver bowl lined with gold and richly chased from General Alger as acknowledgment of the officer's bravery on that occasion. The present was accompanied by a personal of letter thanks to Officer Parker.

Broke the Record.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The steamship Columbia, of the Hamburg-American Packet Co., which arrived here this morning, made the trip in 6 days, 5 hours and 23 minutes, beating all previous records from Southampton.

The Daily Smashup.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 13.—A passenger train on the Connelon Valley Railway was run into this morning by a Cleveland and Pittsburgh switch engine at a crossing at Newburg, a suburb two miles from here, and six persons killed and twenty wounded. One coach was hurled upon a switch man's shanty. A second coach was smashed to splinters. The accident occurred some distance from the city, but it is now reported only one body has been taken out and over forty persons injured.

A Higher Limit Wanted.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—A special meeting of the merchant tailors' society was held last evening to take action upon the McKinley tariff bill which places at $5 the limit at which wearing apparel may be brought into the country free of duty. Similar meetings were held last night throughout the United States in order to obtain the sense of the trade on the provisions. It was unanimously resolved by the local society that the limitation was not sufficient for home protection.

A Big Sale.

CHICAGO, June 13.—John B. Sherman says the sale of the Union stock yards to an English syndicate for $22,000,000 will be consummated on July first. It is not believed that the minor stockholders will enjoin the sale. It is rumored that after the sale local capitalists will combine and start another concern.

A Cruel Crew.

MILWAUKEE, June 13.—While the fishing smack Seabird was at anchor on the banks twelve miles northeast of this port to-day she was run down by the schooner Fearless, bound to Racine, and Capt. Chas Remmetford drowned. The other members of the crew were saved by a smack that was near. After the accident Capt. Remmetford was seen to swim for a mile or two, and then sank. The Fearless came about and lowered her yawl, but sailed away when the men were picked up. The officers of the Fearless will be arrested upon her arrival at Racine.

A Strange Case.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 13.—A curious case came up in the police court this morning. Joseph O'Neill, was arrested yesterday for vagrancy. He is over 90 years old, and says he comes from Wisconsin. He claims to have friends and relatives in New Haven; but, unwilling to be a burden to them, he came to Hartford and entered St. Mary's home for the aged in West Hartford. From papers found on him, he is entitled to a pension of thirty dollars per month as a soldier of the Sixteenth Wisconsin regiment. O'Neill claims he gave one of the sisters in the institution a hundred dollars to keep for him. She refused to give it back to him and he left. He was found yesterday wandering around the postoffice and a policeman took him to the station house. He is almost deaf, but it is wonderfully bright for a man of his age. He refused to go up to the court room and so the judge went down stairs to the prison corridor, and heard the case there. It was postponed for one week.

It Ought Not.

CHICAGO, June 13.—"There is no doubt of the Louisiana Lottery Co., getting a renewal of their charter," said C. D. Bush of New Orleans to-day. The passage of the bill now pending means the reference of the matter to a vote of the people, and if it goes to pieces it will be adopted by a vote of 75 to 1.

Settled a Difficulty.

BUTTE, Mt., June 13.—J. Price, a rancher living in Highwood, a small settlement near Fort Benton fatally shot Jack Wilson early this morning. Wilson had rented Prices ranche and was to have taken possession to-day. The two men quarreled over some matter connected with the trasfer of the property, Price brought his winchester rifle into action and settled the matter by sending a ball through Wilson's lungs. The murderer was taken to Benton and imprisoned.

A Site for the Show.

CHICAGO, June 13.—The Times asserts that the World's Fair directors have practically decided to locate the exhibition on the lake front. An offer has been made to clear the lake front of all its objectionable features by coming to an understanding with the Illinois Central Railroad, and that with the site to consider later been left in abeyance. A formal proposition was to be made to the railroad officials yesterday.

Influences Politics.

NEW ORLEANS, June 13.—The charge that the Louisina Lottery Co. is bribing members of the legislature to vote in favor of extending its charter has been brought before the grand jury of Baton Rouge, and Senator Foster and others have been called as witnesses. The Senate committee appointed to consider the matter has as yet done nothing. A Democratic split is probable in Feliciana senatorial district on the lottery question. East Feliciana is against the lottery, West Feliciana for it. The probabilities are that there will be a discussion in the democratic convention, and two democratic candidates nominated.

For Behring Sea.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The revenue cutter Corwin sailed to-day from San Francisco for Behring Sea, where she will join the American fleet in protecting the American seal and salmon fisheries. The Corwin will stop at Seattle.

Sale of the Holliday Estate.

PORTLAND, June 11.—A portion of the estate of the late Ben Holladay was disposed of to-day by auction. It consisted of several lots in Wheeler's addition to East Portland and the residence of the late Ben Holliday in this city. The total amount bid was $96,350. Commissioner Steele will oppose confirmation of the sale, on the ground that the price was insufficient.

A Lunatic Loose.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., June 11.—The schooner Clytie arrived this morning from Georges with Alexander Dixon, one of the crew, bound securely. The schooner sailed about eight days ago form Georges, and shortly after arriving on the banks Dixon was taken violently insane. Seizing a large axe and knife he made an onslaught on the crew, making them fly below decks. He then took possession of the cabin and remained there for one night. Next morning he came on deck, brandishing a knife, and commenced cutting the rigging, the crew being obliged to keep at a safe distance. He perched on the cross-trees, where he remained all day.

About 7 o'clock at night he came halfway down the rigging and jumped overboard, still retaining possession of the knife. William Guitar, one of the crew, cut the dory loose from its lashings, and secured the man, the bath seeming to quiet him considerably. When Guitar went on board he secured possession of the knife and tied Dixon hand and foot.

Shortly afterward, however, Dixon broke loose, and securing a section of iron chain, made an onslaught on the captain. Guitar jumped from the forecastle to the deck and sprang for Dixon, and delivered a heavy blow under his left eye, felling him to the deck. With the assistance of the skipper the man was then securely bound and brought to port. He is now confined in the police station. Fishing operations were completely broken up by the episode.

Georgia Furnishes Another Lynching.

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 13.—About three weeks ago George Penna, a negro boy about eighteen years of age, was arrested and lodged in jail in Elberton in default of a thousand dollar bond, to answer to a charge of criminal assault alleged to have been committed on Mr. W. S. Butler's fourteen year old daughter, who lived in an upper part of Elberton county. Penna was held in jail until last week, when J. N. Hall, who lives in the same neighborhood, went to Elberton and signed Penna's bond and took the boy home with him. Hall, apprehensive of Penna's safety, made him stay in the upper storey of his house. About midnight last Thursday night while Penna was fast asleep, a mob of about 15 masked men went to Halls, prowled upstairs and got the boy and took him away. No more was heard of him until this evening when his body was found in Broad river, 13 miles from Elberton, with 40 pounds of rock tied around his neck and three bullet holes in his head. The body was brought to Elberton this morning and a coroner's jury empanelled. The evidence developed the fact that Hall was at home but complained of being sick and did not get up when the lynching party came. The verdict of the jury was that the deceased came to his death either by gun shot wounds or drowning at the hands of unknown parties.

Off the Ferry.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—Shortly after eleven o'clock last night an unknown man, apparently forty years of age, a passenger on the ferry boat bound for Oakland threw his hat on on the deck, leaped overboard and was not seen after taking the plunge. The hat was to-day identified by the wife of J. F. Bentley, an electrician, as the hat of the latter, who had been sick and out of employment and who had left the city ostensibly for Oakland where he expected to find work.

A Terrible Tragedy.

ALBANY, Or., June 13.—News has just reached here of a terrible tragedy which occurred seven miles north of Lebenon. This morning the wife of a man named Ewnspagh shot and killed the latter, and then committed suicide. The couple leave two young children. The cause of the crime has not yet been learned.

Nearly a Big Fire.

DAVENPORT, Ia., June 13.—By prompt and heroic work of thirty sisters in the Sister of Mercy Hospital here, forty patients were saved from a horrible death this morning. At 3.30 this morning one of the sisters was awakened by smoke. She discovered a fire in the closet of her room. An alarm was sounded, and the work of rescuing the patients was commenced.

Dismissed.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Judge Cowing, in the court of general sessions this morning, rendered the decision dismissing the indictments against John Keenan and boodle Alderman Henry L. Sailes, who were charged with participating in the steal of the Broadway franchise.

Another Railroad Accident.

[illegible] the Post from Marysville says a freight train coming west was ran into about five miles above here on the Chesapeake and Ohio road about one o'clock this morning. The engine and twenty loaded cars now lie in the bed of the creek. C. C. Roadcap, engineer, Wm. Hanlker, fireman, and a brakeman, whose name is not known, were killed.

A Parricide.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 13.—Frank Watyn, a commercial traveller, was shot and instantly killed at his residence, Columbia and Second streets, by his son Herbert, 16 years of age, at an early hour this morning. Warren returned from a day trip last night and began quarreling with his wife. The boy, who had been in bed, arose and interfered, and procuring a cheap revolver, 32 calibre, shot his father in the right breast with fatal result. Young Warren was arrested. He takes it very coolly, saying he saw his father chasing his mother around the room, and seeing his mother's danger of being beaten, he fired the fatal shot. The coroner, who arrived shortly after the shooting, found several letters of an affectionate nature from a woman in Norwalk, Conn., and another from Bath, N. Y., making appointments. Warren and his wife quarreled frequently of late.

HAS IT ENDED.

Report says that the Wellington Strike Will End Shortly.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—The collier Wellington will sail this afternoon or to-morrow for Nanaimo. The Seminole sailed this morning for that port. The Wellington and the Seminole, which have been engaged carrying coal form Nanaimo to this port, have been laid up since the strike commenced in the Wellington mines. It is rumored that the strike has ended, and that is the reason that the vessels are going on the route again. At the office of R. Dunsmuir & Sons it was learned that, as far as their advices were, the strike is not yet settled, and everything is in statu quo. It is apparent, however, that the strike must be expected to end shortly, or the vessels would not be sent up.

THE INDIAN TROUBLE.

Settlers in Montana Advised to Take Their Families Away.

MILES CITY, Mont., June 13.—Col. C. D. Curtis, aide-de-camp to Governor Toole, arrived to-day with arms and ammunition. Immediately after his arrival he had a consultation with Sheriff Jones and citizens of Miles City, and some settlers who have left their ranches. He explained that the Governor's instructions were to find out the facts in the reported trouble with the Cheyennes, and that the state simply desired to aid the United States authorities in case the resources of the latter were not sufficient. At Colonel Curtis' suggestion a committee was appointed to wait on Col. Swain, commander at Fort Keogh, and request him to send the petition of the settlers to Secretary Proctor to have the Cheyennes disarmed and sent to their reservation.

Committee of eight, with Colonel Curtis drove to the fort, where a conference was held. Col. Curtis stated in his mission and read his instructions from Governor Toole. During the conference it developed that sixty-five young Cheyennes with forty-eight guns were in hiding near the Catholic Mission, fourteen miles from the agency, and that Major Carroll, in charge of the troops at the agency knew nothing of it. Col. Curtis suggests that the committee go to the agency to tell Major Carroll the facts and have him disarm the reds and return them to the reservation. Colonel Swain endorsed the idea and suggested that Col. Curtis and a settler make the trip. This will be done. While Swain does not concede that that there is any great danger still in the same breath he advised the settlers in the region to take their women and children out of the country.

A TERRIBLE RAINSTORM.

Central New York Visited by a Heavy and Destructive Rainstorm.

ROME, N. Y., June 13.—The heaviest rain for years fell last night. The Mohawk river bank flats were flooded, and much damage done to the growing crops. A small washout on the Central road a short distance west of here delayed the trains last night. Near Williamstown, on the Rome & Ogdensburg road, 75 miles north of here, the tracks were undermined and the passenger train, which left at 6:20, was wrecked. No one was hurt. Traffic on this side of the road is suspended at Oneida, 18 miles west of here.

The western part of the village was flooded, and people were compelled to leave their houses. A fire alarm at 1:30 a. m. aroused the villagers to aid those in the flooded district. The Ontario and Western Railway track is covered with five feet of water, and the passenger depot is flooded. Oriskany Falls, 22 miles south of here, was flooded by the breaking of two ponds four miles above the village. No lives were lost, but barns, sawmills and bridges were swept away. Hop yards, flooded gardens were plowed up by the water, and other damages. Miller & Co.'s woolen mill, Pathaway & Reynold's cap factory were badly damaged by water; Langly & Davis' woolen mill also suffered damages. Loss will amount to between $8000 and $10,000.

The damage throughout central New York will amount to several hundred thousand. This forenoon it was reported that the Erie Canal had broken at the western part of this city; investigation showed it to be untrue. The canal overflowed the banks, but did no damage. The rainfall for 24 hours up to 9 a. m. to-day was 2.67 inches.

Miscellany.

The centenary of a flower has just been celebrated by a banquet in Paris. The [illegible] was cut to Europe by Sir John Sinclair in 1790.

A census of wolves has been taken in Russia. They amount to 170,000 according to the enumerators. They commit great havoc among the sheep and pigs, and during the past year 500 human beings have been devoured by them.

Merchants Luncheon.

From 11:30 until 2 o'clock and Lawson at the Bank Exchange.

HOME AND FOREIGN.

EUGENE COWLES REFUSES TO MAKE A STATEMENT.

Presentation to Cardinal Manning—The Czarewitch Will Make a Tour of the World—Monthly Statement of Dominion Finances.

LONDON, June 12.—The London dock laborers in remembrance of the labors of Cardinal Manning in their behalf on the occasion of the great dock strike, presented that prelate to-day with a purse of one hundred and fifty pounds in honor of his silver jubilee. The Cardinal in accepting the gift announced his intention to devote the money to the endowment of a hospital for the relief of laborers.

W. H. Smith, speaking at the Conservative caucus at the Carlton club to-day, intimated that the state of his health would not permit him to face the labors of an autumn session.

The Czarewitch will start on a tour of the world on August 1st. He will return by way of America.

The freedom of the city of Glasgow was to-day presented to Henry M. Stanley. Speaking at a banquet given in his honor to-night, Stanley declared that it would benefit both England and Germany to allow each other a fair exploration in Africa.

Liberties Cowles will Live.

MONTREAL, June 11.—The condition of Eugene Cowles continues to improve, and his recovery is only a matter of a week or two. The judge this afternoon proceeded to the hospital for the purpose of taking his deposition, but Cowles refused to make any statement or charge. Hale will probably be discharged.

Dominion Finances.

OTTAWA, June 7.—The following is the monthly statement of the revenue and expenditure: Revenue for May—Customs, $1,856,132; excise, $608,709; post office, $195,000; public works, including railways, $230,570; miscellaneous, $315,074; total, $3,205,485. Revenue to 30th April 1890—$32,483,239; total revenue for eleven months, $35,728,724. Expenditure for May $3,507,921; expenditure, to 30th April, 1890, $25,159,522; total for 11 months, $28,667,743, leaving the surplus over seven millions. For the corresponding period last year the figures were: Revenue, $31,224,228; expenditures, $29,587,424. The net debt on May 31st was $253,794,350, as against $254,450,424 twelve months ago. The expenditure on capital account to May 31st this year amounts to $4,750,609.

WANT A SETTLEMENT.

The Locked Out Miners Desire to Make Arrangements for Work.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—Tully Boyce, president of the Miners Protective Association of British Columbia, is in this city. His business is to confer with the President of the Wellington Coal Company so as to arrive at some plan of settlement whereby the locked out coal miners may return to work. The men have been locked out on account of a demand for higher wages since May 19th. It is also the purpose of President Boyce while here to try [illegible] to secure a contract for supplying [illegible] with coal. The Pacific Coast Company uses [illegible] tons of coal per year, and [illegible] of millions, whether steam or supplying from this part and from Colorado in connection with the Oregon Lines and Roseberg on the Columbia.

THE LAND OF THE MIKADO

INTERESTING LETTER FROM THE REV. J. W. WADMAN.

Three Incidents that Point to a Growing Antipathy to Foreigners Among a Class of Natives—An Extraordinary Meeting of Missionaries—A Rice Famine.

Notwithstanding the vigorous and repeated efforts of our efficient police to arrest the perpetrators of the Azabu tragedy, of which I wrote you some time ago, nothing has been accomplished in discovering the guilty parties. Several suspicious characters have been arrested, but immediately released through lack of convicting evidence. Certainly the authorities have done their duty. One or two hours after poor Large fell beneath the blows of the skillful swordsmen, every street and lane, I am told, leading out of this vast city was under police surveillance, and since that time the Japanese Government have spent many thousands of dollars searching every part of the Empire for the fleeing culprits. The opinion now prevails among many that they have effected an escape from the country, and are now probably hidden in Hong Kong or San Francisco. In a week or so Mrs. Large and her infant child will sail for Canada. She will carry with her the heartfelt sympathy of all the Christian people of this land, both foreign and native.

Since the Azabu affair, one or two circumstances have occurred which have produced more or less of a sensation, particularly amongst foreign residents. One of them happened in connection with a Mr. Summers, once an Episcopal missionary, but recently an independent school teacher. A few weeks ago he was driving along one of our streets when he happened to intercept a large procession which at the time was doing honor to the Empress Dowager's return from Yokohama. Mr. Summers reined his pony to the side of the street and, with his wife at his side in the carriage, was quietly awaiting the approach of her majesty, whereupon one of the cavalry escort lifted his lance and with its butt end knocked the reverend gentleman's hat to the ground. It appears that the officer did not think that the foreigner was showing proper respect to her majesty in not removing his cranium covering, and so took this way to give him a gentle reminder. The next day, however, the Japanese government looked at the matter in a different light from the escort, and at once dismissed him from the service with a severe reprimand. This was done without any formal complaint from Summers. A few days after this act, however, a young Japanese gentleman called on Mr. Summers and undertook to berate the reverend gentleman for his apparent disrespect to her majesty, and boisterously demanded an explanation of such gross conduct. Mr. Summers after some remonstrance, handed him over to the police as well as two or three other young men who called the same day on the same errand and in the same spirit. These interviews, however, together with some threatening letters he received, proved too much for Summers and notwithstanding the protection of several policemen officially commissioned to guard his house and person, he sent for Hon. Mr. Napier, Secretary of the British legation and desired his company as far as Yokohama, where he found a ship bound for England in which he immediately took passage, leaving his wife and family behind in the care of friends. The Japan Mail, our leading foreign newspaper, calls Summers a "coward" and other hard epithets. Its editor thinks that if he had only stood his ground like a man and an Englishman, the authorities would have scattered his enemies and assured him his safety and freedom. Summers, on the other hand, having been for a long time in the country, and having a close tenacious grip of life such as we mortals generally have, thought differently, and chose retreat rather than possible defeat.

The other circumstance following closely upon the Summers' incident, happened as follows: Reverend Doctor Imbrie, a Presbyterian missionary of high standing, in company with a colleague of his, Dr. Ammerman, left the Mejui Gakuin school, in which both of these learned divines are theological teachers, in order to witness a friendly match of baseball which was that afternoon being played by the students of their own school and those of a Government school, a little distance away. As these two gentlemen approached the scene of action, Dr. Imbrie stepped over a low fence or hedge in order to make a short cut. He had no sooner done so than he was roughly seized by more than a score of young men who immediately went for him without gloves or ceremony. The doctor remonstrated, lifting up his voice and crying "I'm from the Mejui Gakuin," but without avail; and had it not been for the timely interference of some of his own students who happened to be within call of their teacher, he thinks himself that in a little time matters would have taken a serious turn. As it was Dr. Imbric received several blows and kicks and one deep cut in the face. This circumstance, as you may imagine, Mr. Editor, has produced even more sensation than the Summers' case, and in a certain way almost more than the Large tragedy. For while in the Summers' case the act of apparent impoliteness (Summers fully intended to remove his hat when Her Majesty appeared, but in Japan it is customary to do so as soon as the procession comes in sight), was the cause of the offence, and while in the Large trouble it is generally held that purgiary alone was the cause of the bloodshed—what can be shown to be the cause of the Imbrie trouble except it be a feeling of hatred toward foreigners in this land. Let it be remembered, however, that no such feeling prevails among the more intelligent classes. These people are glad to have us here. They help us in our work all they can. But there is a class of Scoti who imagine that the future welfare of this country rests heavily upon their shoulders alone, and whose ignorance is perhaps only paralleled by their conceit. These may make it a little unpleasant for foreigners in Japan for some time to come. We are now on the eve of great events. The general election will take place in a few weeks. What the outcome of this entirely new constitutional proceedings will be, is at present difficult to determine.

At the present moment great suffering prevails on all sides of us, owing to the unusually high price of rice. Hundreds upon hundreds are said to be starving here in Tokio.

The more benevolent wealthy Japanese, together with the Christian churches, have organized themselves into famine relief societies, and are doing all they can to relieve the starving condition of these masses. And now to-day comes word from a reliable source that this summer's early harvest will be a failure and the autumn rice crop very poor. To-day's press, I notice, predicts an awful crisis near at hand. Let us hope that in some providential was it may be averted.

The Duke and Duchess of Connaught have paid Japan an informal visit. They left behind them a very gratifying impression. The natives were very much pleased with their open and simple manners.

Reports are just coming in from Shanghai, describing the proceedings of one of the most important conferences which ever took place. It was a missionary conference composed of over 400 representatives of the various missionary societies of China, as well as India, Japan and Corea. The conference lasted for ten days, and the subjects discussed were of vital interest to the great universal Church of Christ in this part of the world. This circumstance in itself shows the spirit of unity which is more and more, we believe, prevailing among the different branches of Christ's Church at the present day. One of the most pleasing incidents which took place at this wonderful assembly was the passing of an unanimous memorial of congratulations to the Emperor of China. The memorial was to be presented to his majesty by the three foreign ministers, representing the three Protestant powers of Great Britain, Germany and the United States, now resident in Shanghai.

KOOTENAY NEWS.

Mining Reports From Nelson—Our Future B. C. El Dorado.

Mr. R. E. Lemon, of Revelstoke, arrived from Nelson last evening. He informed our representative that the outlook in the Kootenay district, and especially in the mining region of which Nelson is the center, was becoming brighter every day.

Davenport & Son, on the Poor Man's Mine, at Eagle Creek, seven miles west of Nelson, have a ten stamp mill in successful operation, working night and day. It crushes twenty tons of ore. The sulphurets are saved by four machines of the latest improved construction, and the whole mill only requires four men. At present they are running on very rich ore. The mill is situated on the side of the mountain, about a quarter of a mile below the mine. A good wagon road connects the mine with navigable water on the west arm of Kootenay Lake. This mine was purchased from Neill & McDougall a year ago for $22,500. There are, in the immediate locality, many other claims showing even better indications than Poor Man's Mine showed when first located.

Ward Bros., at Kootenay Crossing, are reported to have made a rich strike on Bird Creek, the ore goes $250 to the ton.

Three miles from Kootenay Crossing, on the north side of the river, "the three Bs" have found a rich copper mine. The vein is believed to be 150 feet across.

On the famous Hall mine, twenty-five men are at work running a level. The mine is a mountain of ore, and if it could only be acquired by men who have the capital to work it, there is little doubt that it would be one of the most productive on the continent.

The Hendry company is preparing to put in an electric plant to light the tunnels and run the cars, and arrangements are being made to put in a smelter of 400 tons per day.

The railroad from Sproatt's to Nelson is progressing finely. There are 700 men at work grading, and three miles of track are now ready for the iron. The company is shipping iron from Revelstoke and expect to ship an engine down in a few days. The line will be in operation before fall.

McDonald & Co. have a good hotel at Sproatt's, and Wilson Bros. have a good saddle train on the trail to Nelson, an easy day's journey.

At Nelson two steamers a week leave for Hot Springs or Galena Bay, or travelers can go out that way via Bonner's Ferry and the Northern Pacific.

The miners are hopeful, and it appears as though the district was bound to go ahead in spite of the legislation of the Government.

A Warning.

MR. EDITOR,—It is a well-known fact that the majority of people are inclined to look upon a cold in the head as a matter of little importance—involving at the most only a temporary inconvenience. No more disastrous mistake was ever made. The neglected cold in the head is the source of the catarrhal affections with which about seven-tenths of the people of this country are afflicted, and catarrh itself is too often the preliminary stages to consumption and death. The symptoms of catarrh are manifold, but among them may be mentioned, offensive breath; dull, oppressive headache; offensive droppings from the nostrils into the throat and bronchial tubes; deafness or partial deafness; constant hawking and spitting; weak and watery eyes; a hacking cough and feeling of general debility; ringing in the ears and frequent dizziness. These are but a few of the more general symptoms, and those who experience them should lose no time in applying a remedy. Delays are proverbially dangerous, and in the case of this too prevalent disease may lead to death. We offer Nasal Balm to the public as a certain cure for cold in the head and for catarrh in all its forms and stages. Nasal Balm has been tested in thousands of cases, and the testimonials in our possession prove that it is all we claim for it. It has cured other sufferers, it will cure you. It is easy to use, pleasant and agreeable and does not require a douche, or any torturing instrument to apply it. Give it a trial and be convinced of its great efficacy. Sold by all dealers or sent post free on receipt of price 50c. for small or $1 for large size bottles by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont. daw

CHAPTER X.

IN WHICH A LITTLE UNEASINESS BEGINS TO SHOW ITSELF.

A month had elapsed since the meeting of the gun club and the stockholders of the new-formed society, and public opinion was getting much altered. The advantages of the change to be wrought in the axis of the earth were forgotten and its disadvantages began to be spoken of. It was very probable, public opinion said, that a terrible catastrophe would happen, as the change could only be brought about by a violent shock. What would this catastrophe exactly be? In regard to the change of climates, was it so desirable after all? The Esquimaux and the Laps and the Samoyeden and the Tchoulshis would benefit by it, as they had nothing to lose. The European delegates were very energetic in their talk against President Barbicane and his work. To begin with they sent information to their governments. They used the cable frequently and always sent cipher messages. They asked questions and received instructions. What, then, were these instructions, always in cipher and very guarded? "Show energy, but do not compromise our government," said one. "Act very considerately, but do not touch the 'statu quo,'" said another. Major Donellan and his associates did not fail to predict a terrible accident. "It is very evident that the American engineers have taken steps so as not to hurt, or at least as little as possible, the territory of the United States," thought Colonel Boris Karkof. "But how could they do it?" asked Jan Harald. "If you shake a tree do not all its branches suffer while you are shaking it?" "And if somebody hits you on the back does not your whole body feel the pain?" said Jacques Jansen. "That is, then, what this strange paragraph of the document meant," said Dean Toodrink. "That is the reason why they mentioned certain geographical changes."

"Yes," said Eric Baldenak, "that is what we have to fear; this change will throw the sea out of its basin, and should the ocean leave its present quarters would not certain inhabitants of this globe find themselves so located that they could not readily communicate with their fellow-citizens?"

"It is very possible that they may be brought into such a density of surrounding medium," said Jan Harald, gravely, "that they will be unable to breathe."

"We will see London at the top of Mount Blanc," exclaimed Major Donellan. And with his legs crossed and his head thrown back this gentleman looked straight up as if the capital of his country was already lost in the clouds. In short, it became a public danger and a most annoying one. True, it was only a question of a change of 23 degrees and 28 minutes, but the change might bring about a great movement of the oceans as the new earth flattened itself around the Pole. Protestations were heard from all over and the government of the United States was asked to interfere. "It was best not to try the operation at all." "The consequences of it might destroy this world." "God has done all things well; it was not necessary to better His work," were the comments. And yet there were people light-hearted enough to make merry of the whole matter. "Look at these Yankees," they said, "they want to turn the earth on its axis. If the earth had shown any faults in its motion it would be all right to better it, but it had gone on for millions of years and always as regularly as clock-work."

Instead of answering such questions Engineer Alcide Fiezdeux tried to find which would be the countries and directions, figured out by Mathematician Maston, in which the test would take place—the exact point of the globe where the work would begin. As soon as he should know this he would be master of the situation and know exactly the place which would be in the most danger. It has been mentioned before that the countries of the old continent were probably connected with those of the new across the North Pole. Was it not possible, it was asked in Europe, that President Barbicane and Captain Nicholl and J. T. Maston had considered only how to save their own country from ill consequences which might come from the shock? He was a Yankee—it was pointed out they were all Yankees—and particularly this man Barbicane, who had created the idea of going to the moon. In any case it was agreed that the whole New World, from the Arctic regions to the Gulf of Mexico, would not have to fear anything from the shock. It is even probable on the other hand that America would profit immensely by it and gain some territory. "Who knows what is lying in the two oceans which wash the American coast? Was it not probable that there was some valuable territory which they wished to take possession of?" asked people who never saw any things but the dark side of a question. "Is it [illegible] danger? Suppose J. T. Maston should have made a mistake in his calculations?" And could not the president have made a mistake when he came to put the apparatus in working order? This might happen to the smartest people. They might not always put the bullet in the target, or they might neglect to put the cannon-ball into the cannon," were the comments of these nervous folk. This uneasiness was fomented by the European delegates. Secretary Dean Toodrink published several articles in this line, and even messengers were got by him to the Standard. Jan Harald put some in the Swedish journal Aftenbendt, and Colonel Boris Karkof in a Russian journal which had a large circulation. Even in America opinions differed. The Republicans were friends of President Barbicane, but the Democrats declared themselves against him. A part of the American press agreed with the European press. And as in the United States the papers had become great powers, paying yearly for news about twenty millions of dollars, they had great influence on the people. In vain did other journals of large circulation speak in favor of the N. P. P. A. In vain did Mrs. Evangelina Scorbitt pay as high as $10 a line for articles showing the advantages of this invention. In vain did this ardent widow try to demonstrate that every thing was perfectly correct, and that J. T. Maston could never commit an error in figuring. Finally America took fright in the matter and was inclined to be governed by Europe. But neither President Barbicane nor Secretary Maston of the gun club seemed to care what was said. They did not even take the trouble to correct the different articles. They did not try to change their minds at all. They were too much occupied in preparations for the immense undertaking. It is indeed strange that the public, who were at first so enthusiastic and so certain of success, should so suddenly turn and go against this operation.

Soon, however, in spite of the money Mrs. Evangelina Scorbitt spent on the matter, the president and secretary of the club came to be considered dangerous characters by the people of the two worlds. The Government of the United States was asked officially by the European powers to interfere and examine the matter. The originators were to openly show their ideas and by what means they hoped to accomplish what they intended. They would have to inform the Government which parts of the world would be most in danger, and, in short, tell every thing which the public demanded to know. The Government at Washington was compelled to do what they were asked. The uprising of public sentiment in the Northern, Southern and Middle States of the Union did not allow them any other course. A commission of engineers, mechanicians, mathematicians and geographers were appointed — fifty in all, presided over by John Prestice—by the act of the 19th of February, with full power to do any thing which they considered necessary in the matter. At first the president of the society received orders to appear before this committee. President Barbicane did not respond. Agents went to his house in Baltimore, but the president was gone. Where was he? No one knew. When did he depart? Six weeks ago, on the 11th of January, he had left the city, and the State of Maryland as well, in company with Captain Nicholl. Where did they both go? Nobody could tell. Evidently the two members of the gun club went to that mysterious region where preparations were going on for the great operation. But where could this place be? It was most important to know where this place was in order to break up and destroy the plans of these engineers before they had got too far in their work.

The consternation produced by this departure of the president and his associates was enormous. It soon changed public opinion to hatred against the N. P. P. A. and its managers. But there was one man who ought to know where the president and his associates had gone. There was one man who could answer this gigantic question, which at present excited the whole world, and this man was—J. T. Maston. He was ordered to appear before the committee of inquiry under the presidency of John Prestice. He did not appear. Had he also left Baltimore? Had he also gone to join his associates to aid them in their work, the results of which the whole world now expected with such immense fright? No, J. T. Maston was living still in his Ballistic Cottage, at No. 109 Franklin street, working all the time and already beginning new calculations, only interrupting his work when he wanted to spend a social evening with Mrs. Evangelina Scorbitt at her magnificent residence at New Park. An agent was sent to him by the president of the inquiry committee with orders to bring him to their meeting. The agent arrived at the cottage, knocked at the door and introduced himself. He was harshly received by Fire-Fire, but much worse by the proprietor of the house. However, Mr. Maston thought it was no more than right that he should go to the meeting, and he went with the agent. As soon as he had arrived they began to question him.

The first question was: "Where is President Barbicane and Captain Nicholl at present?" He answered with a steady voice: "I know where they are, but I am not at liberty to disclose this information." And his assistant made the necessary preparations to put this operation in working order?" "This," said Maston, "is a part of the secret which I can not reveal." "Would he be kind enough to let this committee examine his own work, so they would be able to judge if his society would be in position to accomplish their intentions?" "No most certainly I shall not allow it, never; I would rather destroy it. It is my right as a citizen of free America to refuse to communicate to any person the results of my work."

"But," said President Prestice in a very serious voice, "if it is your right to keep silent, it is the right of the whole United States to ask you to stop these rumors and give an explanation of the means which will be employed by your company." Mr. Maston did not agree that it was his right nor that it was his duty to answer further questions. In spite of their begging, threatening, etc., they could obtain nothing from this man with the iron hook. Never, never, would he say one word of it and it was hardly possible to believe that such a strong will was concealed under that cover of "gutta percha." Mr. Maston went away as he had come; he was congratulated by Mrs. Evangelina Scorbitt, who was delighted by the courageous attitude taken by him. When the result of this last meeting of the inquiry committee became known public indignation really took a turn which threatened the security and safety of the calculator. The pressure of public opinion was so great that the Cabinet of the government of the United States was compelled to give the committee full permission to do what they thought most necessary and advisable in the matter. One evening, the 18th of March, J. T. Maston was in his study at the Ballistic Cottage, very much interested in different figures, when suddenly the telephone bell attracted his attention. "Hallo! hallo!" said he, annoyed by this sudden interruption, "who wants me?" "Mme. Scorbitt." "What does Mrs. Scorbitt want?" "She wants to put you on your guard. I am informed this moment"—and she had not time to finish the phrase when Mr. Maston heard a terrible noise at the door of his house. On the stairs which led to his study there was an extraordinary racket. He could hear loud voices, many angry voices. Then the noise of a whole army of men moving toward his door. It was his servant Fire-Fire, who was trying to keep the intruders from breaking into the house and disturbing the "home" of his master. A moment afterwards the door was violently opened and a policeman appeared, followed by several others. This policeman had a warrant to make a visit to the house and to take possession of all papers and also of J. T. Maston himself. The angry secretary of the gun club reached for his revolver, and would have certainly defended himself had he not been suddenly disarmed. He was held by officers and all his papers were put in a bundle. Suddenly he made a bold effort, freed himself, grabbed his note-book, out of which he tore the last page and began to chew it very quickly. "Now you can take it," said he, "for it will be no good to you." An hour afterwards he was a prisoner in the jail of Baltimore. This was undoubtedly the best that could happen to him, as it was extremely dangerous for him to be at liberty in the then excited state of the public mind.

EFFECT OF THE ELECTION.

Whatever the result of the election which closed to-day at 4 p. m.—whether the Government of ROBSON and DAVIE will be defeated or only badly wounded—the effect of the discussion of public affairs in shaping future legislation, will unquestionably be a beneficial one. During the past few months there has been a flood of light let in on the misgovernment of the country, and if the newly awakened interest in public affairs does not accomplish at the present time all that could be desired, we believe it will have an influence that cannot be resisted in shaping the policy of the Government for the next four years. Whatever the issue, Robsonianism and Davieism have received their death blow, and it is only a question of a short time until the reins of government will forever pass from the hands of men whose misrule and general incapacity for government have been so successfully exposed.

FRUIT AND NATIONAL POLICY.

The advocates of protection hold that it stimulates home production. There is nothing to show that this is the case with British Columbia. Besides beef, mutton, pork and flour, we import fruit, and of the kind mostly for which the province is best adapted, namely, cherries, strawberries, plums, pears and apples. No finer climate under the sun is afforded than that peculiar to the Fraser and Thompson river valleys for raising the kinds of fruit just enumerated. Vancouver island is in the same category. It is a fact too notorious to be contradicted that if there is any one thing that British Columbia should not import it is fruit of the kinds mentioned. There has been, it is true, some progress in horticulture since ten years past, but it is equally true that progress in that direction has not been as rapid as the circumstances of the case seemed to warrant. Aside from the tariff impost, the cost of transportation taken with the perishability of fruit generally, should have stimulated horticulture. The perishability of fruit is an important element in estimating first cost, and if we add to that the cost of transportation, we have two features which should enable British Columbia fruit raisers to compete successfully against their American cousins without the additional advantage of the tariff. Proximity to market alone should have made every nook and cranny in the Province an orchard. But somehow we can't get there. We prefer to pay twenty-five cents a pound for fruit, which, if raised in the Province, could be retailed for half the money. With our soil and climate we can raise fruit as cheaply as in the States, and notwithstanding our latitude the season is scarcely ten days later. But we haven't the industry or else our farmers have a bonanza in something else. What that bonanza is we cannot imagine. It certainly is not stock for we import largely of that. It certainly is not flour for we import that. Is it eggs? Well scarcely if the hieroglyphics on the cases of eggs which find their way to this city correctly spell the names of the places they are fetched from. How then do the farmers employ themselves? We give it up. We would impress upon those who are afraid of American competition, that profit in fruit lies chiefly in preparing it for the market in its preserved form, either canned or dried. The market is easily gorged with fresh fruit, and prices fall. But fruit in some form is eaten all the year round. Canned and dried fruit is always in demand. Horticulturists, therefore, should concern themselves as deeply with canning and drying establishments as with the raising of fruit itself. Since, however, the farmers have declined to avail themselves of their opportunities, since "National Policy" has failed to stimulate them to the exertion of supplying the home market, the consumer may reasonably demand the relaxation of conditions which tend to impoverish him without any corresponding advantage to producer. Has the consumer no rights that "National" Policy is bound to respect?

BRITONS BEYOND THE SEA.

The Montreal Witness, discussing "Britons beyond the sea," anent SALISBURY'S colonial policy, remarks that the "enterprising German journalist who has, by appealing to his inner consciousness" discovered that LORD SALISBURY has admitted that Great Britain cannot protect her unwilling colonies, and must unite with Germany in order to meet the claims made upon her, has displayed an unrivalled talent for drawing conclusions from no data whatever." The Witness points out that if Great Britain "were unable to defend her colonial possessions, an alliance with Germany would increase her weakness. Germany beyond the striking distance of her own frontier, is as weak as a second class power. The German army, big as it is, and splendidly efficient as it has proved itself to be, is not an army in the English sense of the word; it is a military training school and domestic machine. Germany could not put twenty thousand men in the field in Africa or Asia without disrupting her whole military machine. The two army corps of Great Britain are armies which can be sent to any part of the world to-morrow, without anything worse than a heavy strain upon the finances of the empire, and the places of the regulars sent abroad can be supplied from the ranks of her volunteer citizen soldiery, something Germany knows nothing of. German journalists and Europeans generally never appear properly to appreciate. The colonies of Great Brtain are not provinces of that nation, they are integral parts of the empire, and the colonists have not ceased, by becoming residents of Britain beyond the sea, to be British subjects, who can be depended upon to do their part in defending and preserving the empire as manfully as Englishmen, Scotchmen and Irishmen."

THE OREGONIAN AND BEHRING SEA.

The Oregonian in an article which unquestionably outlines the general policy of the United States Government with respect to Behring sea, says:

"It is not likely that the instructions to the revenue officers are more peremptory this year. The diplomatic understanding has made distinct progress within the twelve-month. Both nations have submitted propositions looking to an international agreement for the protection of the seal fisheries. Great Britain, it is understood, has distinctly assented to this principal. Russia and Japan stand ready to join in any treaty the United States and England may make. All that remains to be settled is the precise terms of that treaty. There is a difference between the two nations, inspired by the desire of the Canadians to keep the Behring sea dispute open to serve as a mark-weight in the Atlantic fisheries negotiation. So the consummation of the agreement is deferred for another year, during which the whole subject is to be carefully investigated by a mixed commission on the ground. Pending this, it has been agreed between the two Governments that all cause of irritation shall be avoided, as much as possible. The British Government cannot prevent its subjects from poaching upon the Behring sea sealing grounds; but it has notified them that they must do so at their own risk. The United States cannot permit the laws of Congress for the protection of the seals and in execution of its contract with the company having the right to take them on the islands, to be openly defied; but it will enforce them with all possible discretion and consideration. If any seizures are made, they will probably be only constructive, like those of last year.

Of course there is always the possibility that imprudent officers may exceed instructions and bring on a broil. The orders to the commanders of the Bear and the Rush are necessarily vague, since they contain the elements of an unsettled controversy. A bothheaded naval officer with a good ship under him might take upon himself to decide to make seizures so effective as to escape being laughed at, at any rate, and thus create a more serious situation than his superiors care to deal with. But this contingency is remote and unlikely. Our revenue officers are not particularly peppery, and their little tubs of old cutters are not capable of doing anybody much harm. They wouldn't make trouble if they could, and they couldn't if they would. The reasonable probability is that this season in Behring's sea will be a tamer repetition of the last."

MIND READING.

The exhibition of mind reading given in this city on Thursday afternoon and last night by Mr. KING, while interesting, only serves to deepen the mystery of mental phenomena. In the contemplation of such exhibitions science is baffled, nor is the Mind Reader, himself able to explain the rationale of his extraordinary powers. That magnetic conditions are at the bottom of mind reading is indubitable. The operator is a bundle of nerves, tense and susceptible. He manages somehow to put himself in sympathy with his subject who must be passive, and so extracts from him the current of his thought. His is the positive acting on the negative force. The former absorbs through some process too subtle for rational explanation. It is fortunate for mind readers that their lot is cast in these latter days. Less than two hundred years ago Mr. KING would have been regarded in league with the devil, a dangerous person to run at large, and would have been treated accordingly. Electrical pyschology is as old as history. The Witch of Endor was a disciple of the art. Nor are we to suppose that among the Israelites first rose people who professed to deal with what the superstitious and the ignorant regard uncanny. Every nation, every tribe since the human race began, has had its pyschologist. Even the Indians, who, it is said, prior to the advent of the Jesuit fathers had no conception of a future life, had their "medicine men." Nor were the exemplars of pyschology fortunate in their relations with their contemporaries. Invariably persecution was their lot. Not being understood, and, indeed, not understanding themselves, the very least that they suffered was social ostracism. Nor are these people much better off to-day. If we do not persecute them, we make light of them. We tolerate them simply as harmless cranks, and amuse ourselves with their fantastic exhibitions. It is well that we do so. Did we take them into our confidence investigation would cease, and like the Greek oracles they would degenerate into parasites on society. We are on the threshold of great discoveries in the field of mental phenomena. Some day we will fully understand how and why we think; some day what seems to us now preternatural will appear to the understanding as simple as the philosophy of the telephone.

DR. MORRISON'S EXPLANATION.

TO THE EDITOR:—Permit me to state in reply to a letter in your issue of the 12th inst., signed "Parent," asking why I was not present at the investigations, that I could not be present at the first, as I was called unexpectedly to attend a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital. At the investigation held on the evening of the 12th I was there to take part, but could not, owing to a select committee of the school board to investigate the the case of Miss Cameron and the Winsby boy. DR. R. MORRISON.

Eastern Canada.

Application has been made for a recount in the Prince Edward County election.

Arch. Ferguson, a farmer, was killed on the track at Alvinston, Ont. He stood on the track and watched the train approach, making no effort to evade it. It is thought he was insane.

At a meeting of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Manitoba the following officers were elected for the current year: Grand Master, J. A. Ovas, Rapid City; D.G.M., W. G. Bell; Grand Treasurer, J. McKechnie; Grand Secretary, W. G. Scott; Grand Registrar, R. W. Woodroofe.

The Earl and Countess of Aberdeen are expected to visit Canada and the Northwest in a few weeks.

Details of the purchase of the New Brunswick railway by the Canadian Pacific have been arranged and accepted by the C. P. R. directors. The general offices will be removed to Montreal, and it is expected that General Manager Cram will become general manager of the C.P.R. eastern division.

BRIEF LOCALS.

The Day's Doings in City and Province Briefly Related.

Col. Wolfenden is a candidate for re-election as school trustee in James Bay ward.

Only one drunk was waiting for the police court magistrate this morning. A fine of $5 was paid and the culprit got out.

Summonses have been served couple of young men to appear in the police court and answer to a charge stealing fruit from a local garden.

Frank Campbell, jr., has received the contract for supplying music for the St. George Society's picnic, to be held at the Caledonian grounds on the 1st of July.

The Albion Iron Works shut down this afternoon to give their large force an opportunity to vote. There will be no reduction in the wages on account of the half holiday.

A larger acreage of potatoes has been planted on the Mainland this year than last. The Telegram hoped that, as a result, an individual in ordinary financial circumstances may be able occasionally to indulge in the luxury of a "rinber."

A Manitoba correspondent of an eastern paper received the following note yesterday from the editor of the paper he represents: "Please do not wire us any more items about Northwest crops. We take it for granted that you always gather 150 bushels to the acre, except when the frost or the gophers intervene. Yours truly."

The officers and men of the two militia companies of Westminster are animated by the true soldier spirit, and think enough of the service to let their annual pay go into a general fund for the benefit of the corps. The handsome sum of $280 was thus subscribed and will probably be used to fit up a reading room, gymnasium and other adjuncts to the drill-shed next winter.

SPORTING NOTES.

Brief Resume of Sporting Matters Here and Elsewhere.

The James Bay and Wellington baseball teams will cross bats on the Caledonian grounds to-morrow afternoon. The Wellingtons are stronger this year than they were last and will very likely make the James Bays rustle to keep up their reputation. The following is the James Bay team: Hannon, catcher; Jackson, pitcher; Wishart, first base; Waldowson, second base; Parritt, short stop; Franklin, third base; Lorimer, left field; Gouge, centre field; Sullivan, right field; Mouatt, substitute.

LACROSSE.

Victoria Lacrosse Team, which will represent Victoria at Westminster in a match to-morrow: W. H. Cullin, goal; C. Cullin, point; A. E. Wade, cover-point; W. G. Mackenzie, W. J. Ledingham and R. W. Clarke, defense fielders; W. Sturgeon, centre; W. Dempster, J. Cox and Geo. Tite, home field; W. Sprinkling, outside home; W. Clarke, inside home; E. Miller, spare man.

BICYCLING.

Thirteen members of the Island Wanderers Club went for a spin last evening and a very pleasant outing was had. Quite an interest is just now being taken in wheeling, and several new recruits will soon join the ranks.

Edgar A. McCoy, of Tacoma, the prince among Sound wheelmen, has issued an invite to the Victoria boys to be present at Tacoma on the 4th of July, when races and a parade will be an attraction. Several of the Wanderers have expressed it as their intention to go.

HANLAN WILL NOT ROW.

BOSTON, June 12.—The Herald received a letter from Edward Hanlan dated Toronto, June 12, saying that the offer by Manager Thayer of Point of Pines of $10,000 and purse for a race between Hanlan, Gaudaur and Teemer is absurd. He will not row unless a $500 purse is given. John Teemer telegraphs the Herald from Keesport concerning Thayer's offer that he will row for that money. An intimate friend of Gaudaur telegraphs from St. Louis that Gaudaur is on his way here and will undoubtedly be willing to row for the amount. The offer holds good only in case the three men agree to row.

NAUTICAL NOTES.

Items of Interest Along the Water Front—General Marine News.

The steamer Umatilla left for San Francisco this morning.

The Alert left for the Mainland for a load of coal this morning.

The steamers Islander, Louise and Yosemite did not leave for their destinations until 9:30 this morning.

The steamer Falcon took two large scows in tow for Nanaimo, where they will be coal laden for this port.

The tug Lorne towed the Chilian bark Antoinette to Hastings to-day, where she will load lumber.

NO "DOPE" THERE.

Customs Officers Search an Carsman's Shell for the Contraband Drug.

The customs officers at Port Townsend are becoming very particular with regard to searching baggage and the persons of passengers on steamers arriving from Victoria, as it is understood that an enormously large amount of opium has been smuggled in there. From that point it is distributed to different places on the Sound and sent to Portland.

When the North Pacific reached Port Townsend Wednesday morning she had on board the shell belonging to Bush, the carsman, from Victoria. He intended taking passage on her himself on his way to Seattle, having agreed to row a match with Seeley on Lake Samamish next Sunday, but reached the dock only in time to see the steamer 100 yards away.

His shell had been carefully stored on the lower deck a couple of hours before, and when the steamer reached Port Townsend a deputy collector boarded her and at once proceeded to take possession of the shell. It appears that a noted smuggler was seen with a companion near the shell just before the steamer left, and some astute informer jumped to the conclusion that they had been storing away some "dope" inside the frail craft. The authorities at Port Townsend were immediately notified and the seizure of the shell followed the steamer's arrival there. Unfortunately Mr. Bush was not at hand to make an explanation and so the craft was thoroughly overhauled, her canvass deck being ripped up in an effort to discover the contraband drug. When the North Pacific arrived at Seattle Mr. Seeley was notified of the occurrence and wired Deputy Collector Charles Woods, explaining the matter to him. The result was that the shell was released and when Mr. Bush came along on the City of Kingston last evening he took it on board, reaching here at an early hour this morning. It will be but a matter of a few hours to put the craft in as good condition as ever.—Seattle P. I.

THE WILY CHINEE.

How He Seeks to Circumvent the Customs Laws—New Raid.

By Wednesday night's steamer Islander forty-six Chinese arrived ex-steamer Parthia from China. Of this lot fifteen were holders of fraudulent certificates, and fourteen of them paid the necessary $50 tax, all of them admitting that they had never been here before. One of the lot could not raise the cash necessary, and he has been held awaiting its production by some sympathetic friend.

Among the lot were several Mongolians who in some degree resembled the description on their tickets of return, but close questioning on the part of the customs officers showed that the claimants to free admission were frauds. One of them, a young fellow of about sixteen years, was so neatly gotten up that it required a deal of finessing to prove that he was a fraud. His return certificate described a man of about the same age, with a large scar over the left temple, two deep pits on the right temple, a smaller scar on the head, etc. The claimant had all these, was exactly the same height, and by description tallied exactly. A series of questions disclosed the fact, however, that the man had never been here before, and when accused of it admitted that he had been "got up" so that the return certificate of some one else could be used and the $50 tax saved.

Another smart trick noticed, was the fact that the 46 Chinese all wore new Chinese straw hats, each of which would be valued at about 50 cents. Everyone had on a new straw head covering when they landed, but some of them seen today had on the regulation Chinese hat, and a certain store in Chinatown displayed in its window for sale to-day a dozen odd of the latest style of straw hats from China. 'Tis thus the wily Mongolian gets ahead of the average Caucasian, and the old adage of vain tricks and dark ways become more and more forcible.

THE SECHELT MISSION.

The Opening of the New Church Built by the Indians.

On Tuesday, June 3rd, the new Catholic church built at Sechelt by the Indians at a cost of $6,000, was opened with religious and other ceremonies. The Indians all over the Province have for some time been looking forward to the opening day, and in answer to an invitation, about 2000 of the natives attended, some coming by canoe, some by special train, some on foot, and some by the steamer Yosemite, which had been chartered for the occasion. A whole week was spent at the village, during which time the Indians held religious service, and were instructed by seven priests who were present. On Tuesday the 10th, an excursion party of about 200 persons visited the village, when a grand procession, in which over 2000 souls took part, marched through the streets, and in the evening the place was beautifully illuminated with lanterns, etc. Those present were surprised at the piety and the earnestness which the Indians show in their faith. The village of Sechelt is situated about forty miles north of Vancouver, and is prettily laid out in streets, along which are exceedingly neat little cottages, there being no stores. The Indians, of whom there are about 800, are employed particularly in the sawmills at Vancouver and New Westminster, and are an industrious lot. They are very proud of their new church, which they built themselves.

Labouchere's Political Prospects.

In his article in the North American Review on "Coming Men in England," Mr. Justin McCarthy speaks somewhat doubtfully of Mr. Labouchere's prospects. "And Mr. Labouchere," he says, "Is he not a coming man? Alas! I know not," as Hamlet says. Mr. Labouchere is a coming man if he wants to come. He has many advantages. He is, in the first place, a man of great talent; he is, in the next place, a man of great courage and he is, in the third place—and this counts for a good deal in English political life—a rich man. He can take a high place if he will. But he must first get the average Englishman to take him seriously and will he care to do that? Then after giving Mr. Labouchere credit for conviction and sincerity, he goes on to mention the great drawback. "But Mr. Labouchere has so long amused himself and the world by playing the part of a cynic and a political farceur that I am not certain whether he would be able to get rid of the stage attire and consent to be himself." That is just it. And if he did, who would accept the transformation as long? Sketch Of Mr. Balfour as a debater Mr. McCarthy speaks highly. His appointment as Chief Secretary for Ireland looked ridiculous at the time, but it turned him from "a college debating-society prig" into a parliamentary debater, and he is now of the best debaters in the House.

SHOT WHILE SLEEPING.

PORTLAND, June 11.—A double tragedy occurred at Milwaukee, near here, this morning, which resulted in the death of a mother and her son. Daniel Harvey, who has lived for many years with his mother, Mrs. Mary Bunnell, and his step-father, Charles Bunnell, shot his mother through the temple with a pistol, and then, placing the pistol to his head, blew his own brains out. Both mother and son lived until about 9 o'clock, when death came to their relief.

The family were living on a fruit farm about a mile east of Milwaukee. Harvey was 35 years of age and unmarried, while his mother was 65 years old. The family had always lived peacefully together and Harvey seemed particularly kind to his mother. Harvey owned the farm till about two months ago, when he sold it for $12,000. While he had always been of a morose and sullen disposition, he seemed to be particularly despondent since the sale of his property. He regretted the sale and attempted to buy the farm back again. His mind began to be affected, and he seemed to think that without his farm he would soon starve to death. While talking to a friend a few days ago, he said he would cause a sensation in the community. He did not state what it was, and no one gave the matter any thought.

About 6 o'clock this morning Harvey arose, and after loading his revolver he opened the door of the room where his mother and stepfather were asleep.

Stepping up to the bedside he placed the weapon near the right temple of his mother and fired. He then walked to the foot of the bed and sent a bullet into his own brain. Mr. Bunnell, who is very deaf, was sleeping beside his wife, but did not hear the pistol shots. Several minutes after the shooting, however, he awoke and saw his wife by his side, covered with blood, and Harvey on the floor writhing in the last agonies of death. He immediately gave the alarm and the coroner took charge of the bodies. The coroner's jury found a verdict that Harvey shot his mother and then shot himself while laboring under a fit of temporary insanity.

C Battery Men Vote.

The Government party left no stone unturned to win the election in Victoria. They marshalled the faithful of all ranks and conditions of men. The unusual spectacle of soldiers voting in Canada was witnessed for the first time, for the gallant colonel of C Battery, who on former occasions has felt it consistent with the duties that he owes to the State to take sides in an election fight, permitted his men to be taken to the poll in the interest of the Government candidate. If disqualification is justifiable in any case, it surely is right that our "brave defenders" should not have the privilege of arraying themselves against one half of the community.

Resigned His Position.

W. A. Russell, Esq., who for the past three years has ably filled the position of steamboat inspector of the Province, under the department of marine of the Dominion, has resigned from his office to take the situation of superintending engineer for the C. P. N. Co. Mr. Russell is an engineer of superior ability, and will be a valuable adjunct to the staff of the C. P. N. In the position of superintending engineer he will be able to exercise his abilities in a more practical manner than he could while hampered with the red tape of an official desk. Since his occupancy of the office of inspector he has gained the good will of those he has come in contact, for while carrying out his instructions to the letter, he did it in a gentlemanly manner which commanded respect.

SICK-ROOM HINTS.

Little Things That Will Often Do More Good Than Much Medicine.

Sick people, especially those who are sick with chronic diseases, are likely to be irritable and fussy, which certainly is not strange. Day after day, and week after week, of the same unchanging routine, unable perhaps to read, and always painfully conscious of existence—this is their lot. This being the case, unfailing patience should always be shown.

Endeavor to make the sick-room cheerful and agreeable, not to yourself, but to the invalid. This last is important. No matter how well meant your plans, no matter how disappointed you may be at their failure, the sick one's whims are more important than any plan of yours, unless it be positively to his advantage. Even then there is room for debate. Remove pictures or ornaments that annoy, and replace them with those that please.

Be sure that the room is light, unless there be some good reason to the contrary. Let it be well ventilated, yet without direct draught. This may be secured by arranging a board, just inside, across the lower part of the window, so that the sash may be raised and the air come in behind.

Let the room be kept clean and sweet, this last in its literal sense. Take pains to prevent any settled odor in the sick-room, by having free ventilation with fresh air, clean bed-clothes and body clothing, carefully-covered glasses for medicines, immediate, careful and thorough attention to the personal needs of the sick one, and scrupulous general cleanliness.

Much may be said in regard to personal comfort, but I will mention only a few points. Avoid direct sunlight, or even daylight, shining in the invalid's face. The same precaution should be borne in mind when artificial light is used. Let the invalid be kept in "grateful shade."

If, as in many cases, the invalid is confined to the bed, the relief afforded by shaking up the pillows is great.

Calmness and poise of manner, quiet, kindly tones of voice, gentle handling and expectant cheerfulness will do more good in many cases than much medicine. Enter and leave the room quietly, and never upon any consideration come tardily and hysterically upon a sick person.—Congregationalist.

An Australian musician has invented a trombone that is played by steam. Its "God Save the Queen" can be heard at distances of four miles. He had hard luck with it, however, for the people of his own town drove him out as a nuisance.

Some Great Unexplored Lands.

A great part of Asia and nearly three-fourths of Africa is a sealed book to us moderns. The explorations of Stanley, and those who preceded him, are mere spider tracks in the desert, and our best maps of Africa are half guesswork.

In Asia there is Thibet and Turkestan, and in Africa the great desert of Sahara to be explored. We know almost nothing of Borneo, Papua or Madagascar, and thousands of islands in the Pacific ocean are still unexplored.

Great tracts of Australia have never been trodden by the foot of a white man, and nearly all of South America inside of the coast lines is known only by hearsay and tradition. Coming up to our northern half of the continent, we encounter more unknown lands. Central America and Mexico offer fertile fields for exploration, and lower California has never been thoroughly explored.

In the far north is Greenland, Baffin Land, the great Hudson bay region, all of British America north of latitude 60 degs., and our great territory of Alaska.—Golden Days.

Women Writers In France.

A Paris correspondent says: The most discouraging obstacle the American woman has to contend with in Paris is the great number of English and French writers employed by the American press, while it is impossible for an American writer to be recognized by foreign journals. One of the most rabid anti-Americans, in his personal feelings, receives thousands of dollars a year from American magazines and journals. No woman can live by her pen who has not a regular salary. To attempt it is one of the most hazardous and vexatious undertakings. Haphazard correspondence is casting bread on the water that in nine cases out of ten brings back—the manuscript. Mrs. Hooper has a stated salary, which enables her to live in cozy apartments and enjoy Parisian life with comfort. Her daughter has studied for the stage, and last June created the role in a play which Mrs. Hooper has written, called "Helen's Inheritance."

A Marvelous East Indian Cannon.

It is 17½ feet long, 5 feet and 6 inches around the muzzle, with a caliber 17 inches across. By the natives it is called Jaun Kushall, or the destroyer of life. History does not record the date of its casting, which the superstitious people attribute to the gods, doctas or divinities. Persian inscriptions on this great death dealer prove that it has been captured in some war with that country, but the letters and characters are so nearly obliterated that the date cannot be ascertained. The cannon has rested for ages between two mammoth trees of the peepul species, which have grown so firmly around it that it could not be removed without felling one or both of them. Tradition says that the cannon has been fired once, and that the ball was impelled twenty-four miles!—St. Louis Republic.

A BY-LAW

To Further Amend the Revenue By-Law, 1889.

WHEREAS it is expedient to further amend the Revenue By-Law, 1889:

BE IT ENACTED by the Mayor and Council of the City of Victoria as follows:

By adding after section 10, schedule A of the said by-law the following section: "10a. Every person carrying on the business of a fur trader or fur dealer, $50 for every six months."

By adding after the figures "10" in the next line of said section 10, schedule A, of the said by-law, the words and figures "and 10a," and by striking out the word "and" preceding the said figures "10."

By adding after section 11 of the said schedule A of the said by-law the following sections, "11a. Every proprietor or manager of any theatre for each exhibition $10 "11b." Every express company, gas company, telephone company, electric light company, street railway or tramway company, $50 for every six months. 11c. Every investment and loan society, $50 for every six months.

This by-law may be cited as the "Revenue By-Law Amendment By-Law, 1890."

Passed the Municipal Council the 9th day of May, A.D. 1890.

Reconsidered and finally passed the Council this twenty-first day of May, A. D. 1890.

BLENDING OF COLORS.

A Task That Is Subject to a Thousand Contingencies.

How often we see the effect of a dress made up of goods that are beautiful both in texture and color, utterly ruined by the lack of harmony in the blending of colors. It is almost impossible to form a rule for the proper combination of colors applicable to dress; for they are subject to a thousand contingencies, and we daily discover agreeable harmonies of tint where we least expected it, and excruciating discords produced by the juxtaposition of tones. The influence of some neighboring tint, the position of the colors combined, their relative stations, and the materials adopted for each, frequently tend to produce these effects.

The color of a single rosette often destroys the general tone and appearance of the dress, and occasionally it may be managed with such skill as to blend the tints of two or more principal parts of the costume, which, without some mediator, would render each other obnoxious to the eye of taste. It is quite certain that the same color which imparts a liveliness and brilliancy when used for light embellishments, and in a small quantity, becomes vulgar, showy and disagreeable if adopted for the most extensive portion and leading tint of the attire; and, on the other hand, the delicate or neutral colors, which look well when displayed over a considerable surface, dwindle into insignificance if used in small detached portions for minor ornaments.—N. Y. Ledger.

A NATION OF PIGMIES.

A Narrow-Chested, Thin-Legged and Stupid Community of Midgets.

After China, with its hundreds of thousands of great, brown coolies and its slim ones, who will walk all day up hill under burdens that would break down a European athlete on the level, the Annamites strike you as a nation of pigmies.

Their average height must be under five feet, they are narrow-chested and thin-legged, their mouths are always stained a slobbering, filthy red with the betel nut and lime that they chew unceasingly, and they are stupid beyond the power of words to tell. Whether it is the fault of their conquerors or not I can not say, but they appear to be a people destitute of the sense of self-respect. At any rate the French treat them as if they had none. The first time I went into dejeuner at the hotel at Haiphong one of the "boys" had left a dirty plate on the little table to which the host showed me.

"Qu'est ce que ta fais, toi?" demanded the latter, pointing to the plate, and smack! a box on the ears followed that you could have heard fifty yards off.

And this is the middle of a crowded dining-room. You would no more think of striking a Chinese servant like that than of tweaking a policeman's nose on Broadway. Before a Frenchman an Annamite appears to have no rights.—Cor. Washington Star.

THE BANYAN TREE.

One Whose Parent Trunk Is Forty-two Feet Round.

Though much is known in regard to the banyan trees of India, novel and interesting matter is being continually contributed to their history. The Annals of the Royal Botanical Garden of Calcutta, of which Volume I. has recently been issued, gives much space to the species of ficus to which genus the banyan belongs. It appears they always begin life as an epiphyte, finally killing the tree to which they attach themselves, and then establishing an independent existence in the ground. The seedlings sometimes begin life by growing in the crevices of buildings, which, in the end, they usually manage to destroy. The great banyan tree in the Botanic Garden of Calcutta, in 1886 one hundred years old, began life on a date-palm tree, of which all trace has long disappeared. The parent trunk of this tree is forty-two feet round, and the circumference of the leafy crown is 887 feet. It increases by sending roots down from the branches to the ground, and these become trunks. Some of them are twelve feet in girth, and there are 322 of them all told. A single specimen will therefore eventually form an entire forest, by these dropping roots from the end of the branches. One is known that has a head of branches averaging 500 feet in diameter.—N. Y. Independent.

A Dead Give-Away.

Ghost (at a seance)—Do you recognize me?

Mrs. Toper (confidentially)—Yes, you are my late husband, John Toper.

Ghost (surprised)—How did you know me?

Mrs. Toper (firmly)—I smelt your breath, John.—Lowell Mail.

—"George, darling," she murmured, as they strolled in the garden, "let us stop at that rustic seat yonder for a moment." "Certainly, pet," answered the young man, "that is the place where I proposed to you last night. Do you want to stop for the fond recollections that cling to the spot?" "No, not exactly. You see, I knew that it was coming last night, and that you would want to kiss me, and so I took my gum out of my mouth and stuck it on the bench. If it is there yet, I want to get it. That is all, George, dear."—Drake's Magazine.

—"I never could understand," said old Mrs. Goodheart, as she laid down her paper after reading an account of the last hotel fire, "how so many people are incinerated in these awful horrorscopes. It seems such an easy matter to get out of a burning hotel; why, it's very simple to just climb down one of them handy-maides that they have on all the hotels nowadays. There's no excuse for getting cremated alive if you keep your wits about you."—Elmira Gazette.

—Where Mrs. Smithers's sufficient quantity of flour for the number in the family add a good pinch of salt to it, and mix hard with cold water, adding a little at a time until all the flour is mixed in. Work well and cut in small pieces; work them round and roll thin. They should be less than half an inch thick and three inches in diameter. Bake them quickly in a hot oven and butter them while hot.—The Housekeeper.

THREE-YEAR-OLD'S IDEA OF KISSES.

I showered upon his dimpled cheek
My kisses by the score,
Then hugged my darling to my heart,
And stole some twenty more.
She did not murmur or oppose,
But still and passive lay;
In thoughtful mood he asked me then:
"Of what are kisses made?"
"I cannot tell you, precious one,
Just make a few yourself,
Perhaps you then can answer, dear,
Your query, you sweet elf."
Up came two ruby, rosy lips,
On neck, and cheek, and brow,
He made some kisses; then said I,
"Ah, can't you answer now?"
With thoughtful miles and winning smiles,
He turned his eyes above,
Then said, "Why, mamma dear, I fink
They're made just made of love."
—Ladies' Home Journal.

Roping a Big Wolf.

Young Capt. Nelse Valleaux, a youth between 15 and 16 years of age, performed a feat that stands unrivaled in the history of prairie exploits. Mounted on his trusty and sure footed Montana horse he essayed to capture with the lariat an immense grey wolf. Twice the beast's neck was encircled by the rawhide lariat and twice the animal's sharp teeth severed the strands as the young horseman was attempting to disable the savage beast. The third time Nelse caught the young wolf around the middle of the body and started on a run, dragging it near the edge of a cut bank until he tumbled it over the edge. Nelse then held the wolf suspended in the air over the edge of the cut bank by fastening the rope to the pommel of the saddle. He then dismounted and stoned the animal to death, the well trained horse standing perfectly still during the operation.—Fort Benton Press.

Common Salt for Neuralgia.

It is not generally known that common salt is an admirable remedy for neuralgia. Dr. George Leslie gives details of thirty or forty cases of facial and other neuralgias, odontalgia, etc., which have been cured in most instances instantaneously, by the insufflation of common salt. The salt was either "snuffed" or blown up the nostrils. He said he had been unsuccessful in only two cases; both of these were cases of old standing, which had been treated frequently by morphine injections.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Judas Was Politic.

The Armenians, who believe hell and limbo to be the same place, say Judas, after having betrayed the Lord, resolved to hang himself because he knew that Christ was to go to limbo and deliver all the souls that he found there. He thought by killing himself to get to limbo in time to be released with the other wrong doers, but the devil, knowing his intent, held him out of limbo until the Lord had passed through, and let him fall into the abyss (hell) below.—St. Louis Republic.

An Everlasting Book.

The most singular material for book-making is proposed by Professor Castagnatta, and partially carried out by Professor Burkham, of Brunswick. His idea was to make a book indestructible by printing in gold or silver letters upon thin leaves of asbestos, the binding to be of a thicker sheet of asbestos. Neither time nor fire could have any effect upon a volume of this kind, and it might well merit the title of "the book of eternity."—New York Telegram.

English People Changing Color.

There is no question that the English people, as a whole, are darkening fast. This is due to the influence of town life. In country districts "flint white" children succeed to flint white parents; but they drift more and more to the great centers, where in the second generation they become brown and in the third or fourth develop those mongrel hues, which distinguish a city population. And this means that they deteriorate.—St. James Gazette.

Chapped Hands and Lips.

Chapped hands and lips are a common complaint. The best preparation I ever found for the hands is: Three ounces of lemon juice, three ounces of white wine vinegar and one-half pint of white brandy. For the lips: Oil of roses, four ounces; one ounce white wax, and of spermaceti one-half an ounce. Melt in a glass vessel and stir with a wooden spoon. Pour into a china cup or glass.—M. E. Coglin's Letter.

Proof by Flowers.

"If every human being in the American continent were to be taken out of existence," said the late Professor Asa Gray, "and the whole work of his hands were cleared away, so that no trace remained, subsequent historians could prove that the Caucasian race existed by the flowers that would be found growing here."—Chicago Times.

Attempted Swindling.

Lady (in tax office with diminutive pug)—I understand that dogs have to be registered.

Tax Clerk—Yes, madam (one dollar.

Mrs. O'Flannigan (with big bull dog)—Say, mum, he's a cheatin' av yo. He only charged me wan dollar for this big, foine animal.—New York Weekly.

Squashes in Maine.

A huge squash that had been exhibited in an Auburn (Me.) store window for months, being cut open, it was found that the seeds had commenced to sprout, and there was a number of well formed leaves.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Progress of Photography.

The progress of stellar photography is well exemplified in the case of the inner satellites of Uranus, which, although they are among the most difficult of all, have been successfully photographed.—Christian at Work.

"He? Oh, no; he doesn't believe in anything."—Harper's Bazar.

OUR MINERAL RESOURCES

THE CARBONATE MOUNTAIN DEVELOPMENT COMPANY.

The Attention of British Investors Now Being Directed to the Rich Mineral Deposits of British Columbia—English Capital Advised to Look This Way.

The opening up of the rich district of British Columbia by the Canadian Pacific Railway has had the natural effect of hastening in a very marked degree the development of the resources of that Province, and the opinion is slowly gaining ground that British Columbia is destined in the near future to become an important seat of mining industry. For the moment, no doubt, mining speculation has sunk to a very low ebb. Nor is this to be wondered at. The mistakes, the blunders, the recklessness, the worse than all these, which have characterised the history of the latest mining boom, might easily have sickened a heart of adamant. The mining industry in general is now suffering from the reaction. The interest in Australian mines has declined into a condition bordering on sheer indifference. South Africa is also under a cloud, and it needs the stimulus of a new district of undoubted mineral wealth, disconnected from the forces which have characterized the history of other fields, to lift the investor into something like new hope. If official pronouncements and the opinion of independent experts carry weight, British Columbia possesses the highest possibilities for successful mining enterprise. Her mineral deposits include gold, silver, copper, iron, coal, lead, platinum, antimony, bismuth and plumbago. Gold mining in the territory dates back, of course, for many years, beginning on the Fraser river as long since as 1856; but the extensive gold field of Cariboo, lying north of the Canadian Pacific route, was not discovered until 1860, and the actual output of alluvial gold from this region up to 1882 is stated to be something like $10,000,000, and the total taken out of the Province, according to the latest official returns, $22,000,000.

The argentiferous ores which have been discovered of late years, and croppings of which have been assayed with satisfactory results, indicate that when proper depth is attained, gold and silver quartz mining will promptly come to the front. It is common knowledge that the great silver belt, which runs in a north-westerly direction through Mexico into Colorado, Wyoming, Nevada, and Idaho, extends into British Columbia. Up to the present time mining operations in the province have been mainly carried on by diggers, men of limited means, and frequently of less scientific knowledge. Active steps are now, however, about to be taken to place the industry on a more permanent basis, and it is generally believed that it only needs the introduction of additional capital and scientific methods to set the mining industry fairly on its legs.

An English company, under the title of the Carbonate Mountain Development Company, Limited, has just been registered, with the moderate capital of £65,000 in £1 shares. The company is formed to acquire and develop sixteen mining claims in the Carbonate Mountain section of British Columbia. Carbonate Mountain lies in the heart of the Selkirk range, forty-five miles south-east of the Golden City station of the Canadian Pacific. From Golden City it is stated that a steamer runs on the Columbia River to Carbonate Landing in five hours, and that a good road thence to the mines, fifteen miles distant, could be constructed at small cost. The mines are therefore easily accessible. The mineral wealth the district appears to be beyond any question. Mr. George B. Dawson, D. S., F. G. S., in an official publication on the mineral wealth of British Columbia, published under the authority of Parliament, writes: "Since the Selkirk mountains have been traversed by the Canadian Pacific Railway and have thus been rendered accessible, and a means afforded for the shipment of ores, very active prospecting has been carried on in a number of localities, which has resulted in the discovery of numerous deposits of rich ores, principally silver bearing. The region is at the present moment that in which the interest of mining men is chiefly centred, and the developments so far made are of the most promising kind." In another place the same authority states: "There is every reason to believe that before many years elapse the province will take its place as one of the great silver producing regions of the world." At the rich Cariboo district to the north of Carbonate Mountain, a large quantity of alluvial gold has been taken out during the past thirty years, and the Cour d'Alaine Mines to the south, are stated to possess extremely rich deposits of silver ores. Mr. D. Oppenheimer, Mayor of Vancouver, in a pamphlet published last year, also makes special reference to the Selkirk deposits. He states that the Lanarck Mine, situated near the Illecillewaet station of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has sent ore to San Francisco and Denver, for smelting, which yielded 75 oz. of silver and 70 per cent. of lead to the ton. He also gives the results of assays made on the Spallumacheen River Mines, which are included in the claims of the Carbonate Company, as follows: Monitor—from 44 to 77 per cent. lead, 32 to 80 oz. silver, with a trace of gold. Good smelting ores. Other results might be quoted, but the foregoing are enough to indicate the mineral characteristics of the Selkirk district. The Carbonate Mountain deposits are stated to be the same formation as the Cour d'Alaine.

Messrs. John Taylor and Sons, the well-known mining experts, have had the properties to be acquired by the Carbonate Mountain Development Company examined by their agent, and Messrs Taylor's report, annexed to the prospectus states:

The position of the mining claims is very favorable for economic working. The ledges or veins upon which the claims are located extend over a distance of about three miles, and contain ores of argentiferous lead and gold.

The ledges are of great strength, and their mineral character, as well as that of the enclosing rock is very favorable, ores being found under promising conditions along the surface at many points, and doubtless large bodies of ore will be found if the ledges are opened, which can be done by adit levels to great depths, thus saving the cost of pumping and haulage.

We have no hesitation in advising the the prosecution of works upon the claims to be acquired by the company in the most vigorous manner, particularly as the conditions of mining are similar to those of the great mineral deposits just over the frontier in Montana, Idaho and Washington territory.

Although the ledges upon the properties to be acquired may be classed generally as argentiferous lead rather than gold veins, samples which were taken by Messrs. John Taylor and Sons, representative from several points along them, which showed no visible gold, are stated to have given, by assay, in nearly every case traces of small quantities, and one sample taken from a fine looking ledge in the Southern Cross Claim, the continuation of which is seen outstanding for a distance of about one mile, gave 1 oz. 17 dwts. 12 grs. of gold per ton of ore.

In regard to facilities for smelting, it is pointed out that the smelting works are already in operation at Revelstoke, within ninety miles of the mines, and we understand that arrangements are being made for putting down smelting works at Golden City. It will thus be seen that circumstances are distinctly in favor of this enterprise.

THE LAST SHOT.

A Very Lively Meeting — The Last of the Campaign.

The Opposition meeting held at the Philharmonic last evening was the greatest success of the party during the campaign. Every available inch of seating and standing room was utilized, and there is no knowing how many were turned away because they could not get room. Mr. Geo. Powel, who acted as chairman at two of the meetings, and who makes an excellent presiding officer, called the meeting to order at at 8.15, and after a few remarks, called on Dr. Milne to address the meeting. The doctor was well received by the audience, and placed before the electors a large number of substantial facts in as few words as possible. He effectively wiped out the charge that he was a class legislator, or that he favored a law to keep out doctors, in the same sense as a law was made to keep out lawyers. A man could read up at home and be made a lawyer by Act of Parliament, but a man could not read up at home and become a doctor. He must have that practical knowledge which is only to be obtained in colleges, and through them in hospitals. Hence an authorized board was necessary to see that a man had the proper qualifications. So far from trying to create a monopoly in doctors, he had moved in the Dominion Medical Association that there should a reciprocity in doctors between the Dominion, Great Britain and Australia.

Mr. Frank Richards addressed the meeting effectively on the land laws of the Province and showed himself to be thoroughly conversant with their every detail.

Hon. Mr. Beaven spoke with his usual effectiveness, and taking up the record of Mr. Turner laid it bare before the audience with all its hideous inconsistencies.

Mayor Grant followed with a speech of an hour and a quarter in length and revied the whole situation.

The audience were in entire sympathy with the speakers, and although the Government "rounders" frequently attempted to create a disturbance it was no go. A hundred deep opposition voices would shout "put him out" and the disturber would take the hint and keep quiet. When Mr. Grant had finished speaking it was twenty minutes after eleven. A vote of thanks was moved to the chairman and he left the chair. Someone at the same time turned down the gas lights on the stage, and the meeting was breaking up, when the Hon. Mr. Turner jumped on the stage and attempted to speak. The audience would not hear him and pandemonium reigned. Captain Irving mounted the rostrum but although the crowd was very good-natured with him it was no use. The Mayor asked the audience to hear what Mr. Turner had to say, (although at his meeting this privilege was denied to the Opposition candidates) but before he had uttered two sentences cat calls, whistling, groaning, stamping and other noises of disapproval drowned his words. This state of things continued for fully three-quarters of an hour. Mr. Turner standing on the darkened stage, in a defiant attitude, and the crowd refusing to hear him. Finally it was brought to a conclusion by the announcement of the managers of the hall that they had to get it ready for the polling next day and would like to have the hall vacated. The Finance Minister sullenly grabbed his hat and his blue books and bolted from the stage and the audience straggled out of the hall saying inwardly "so perish all lovers of Chinese and who vote for the Government and not us."

Address of Welcome.

The Gorge Road Methodist church was filled last evening, the occasion being the presentation of an address of welcome to Rev. J. H. White, the new pastor. After the opening prayer by the retiring minister, Rev. W. Baer, Mr. Berridge read the address, which was responded to in appropriate language. Messrs. Humber, Shakespeare, McLellan and Spencer delivered speeches, and after partaking of strawberries and cream and having a few hours' pleasant chat the gathering dispersed. Rev. Mr. White, the new pastor, is well known throughout the province, his father having been one of the first ministers in British Columbia.

THE NORTH STAR CASE.

Evidence for the Prosecution Already Forwarded to Ottawa.

The owners of the seized steamer North Star have retained Mr. J. P. Walls to defend their case with the customs authorities, and that gentleman yesterday communicated with Collector Milne, asking for a copy of such evidence as might be submitted against the vessel, that he could better prepare his case for the defense. Mr. Walls received the following in reply which shows he was too late in his application:

John P. Walls, barrister, etc., Victoria, B. C.—Sir: In re steamer North Star and Angel Keffee, master, I have to acknowledge your letter of yesterday, delivered this morning, in which you ask for a copy of the evidence upon which the steamer North Star was seized. In reply I beg to say that in accordance with departmental instructions, which provide that seizure reports must not be delayed but transmitted immediately on receipt by collectors, I have forwarded to Ottawa the seizure reports and evidence in the cases. I am therefore unable to comply with your request but if you think it necessary in the interest of your client at this stage of the proceedings to have access to the exact evidence I would suggest that you apply to the Commissioner of Customs for the same. You are aware of what is charged and I will be happy to forward such evidence as you may deem wise to submit.

I have the honor, etc.,
A. R. MILNE, Collector.

The Result.

The result of the election in the city will not be learned until after the hour at which the TIMES goes to press; but should it be announced at a reasonably early hour, an extra will be issued. In Victoria, a very large vote will be polled, and as the entire vote will be counted by one man necessarily several hours will be occupied at this work. Under the Dominion law the votes are counted at each of the polling subdivisions, and hence the time occupied is much less than at a provincial election.

FROM ALASKA.

The Steamer Queen Returns From Her First Excursion to Alaska.

The steamer Queen, Captain Carroll, arrived at the outer wharf at 10 o'clock this morning and left at 4 for the Sound. The round trip from Tacoma was made in eleven days, every one of which was pleasant, not an accident occurring to mar the pleasure of the passengers. The run from Tacoma to Wrangle was made in 48½ hours, the fastest time on record. Glacier Bay, the principal place of curiosity on the route, was full of ice, and a good deal of difficulty was experienced in getting through, but Capt. Carroll was bound to give every one an opportunity of seeing the wonderful bay, and he consequently forced the steamer through.

A short stop was made at Port Simpson and the tourists had an opportunity of seeing the habits, customs, etc., of the B. C. Indians, which they appreciated very much.

The excursion party took a look around the city to-day, but were unable to obtain hacks, as they were at a premium.

At Silver Bow Basin, just back of Juneau, several good claims have been struck, and all through the country miners are getting ready for the summer's work.

Among the passengers who came down besides the excursion party, were Marshal O. F. Porter, Sitka; Jno. Bernhardt, Juneau; W. A. Sanders, Juneau; Mrs. John Grant, Victoria; Bishop Vladimir, Bishop of Alaska; and Rev. Jno. A. Soboleff, deacon of the Greek Russian church.

THE CONTEST.

Possibility of a Large Vote — The Outlook in Victoria.

To-day will decide who the men are who will administer the public affairs of this Province during the next four years. It will determine to a great extent the future of this beautiful Province, whether it will be governed by a band of selfish men, of bad and unstatesmanlike principles for the next four years, or be regenerated with an honest, new and enterprising government.

In the large constituencies the contests, while somewhat fairly close, will give the Opposition the advantage, the four cities of the Province, if divided on fair issues, are undoubtedly opposed to the present Government. What the Government with its patronage and scheming may be able to accomplish remains to be seen.

In Victoria the contest is a brisk one, the Opposition party going in for the election of their whole ticket, the Government party narrowing their work down to two. It has been admitted all day that if they can elect two, Turner and Wilson, they will be satisfied.

Mr. Wilson during the last few days has developed considerable strength and has been manipulated probably to the injury of one of the Opposition candidates. It is just possible that he may poll fewer votes than expected and again it is possible he may be elected, as Sir John has declared elections and horse races are two of the most uncertain things in the world." A rumor is afloat to-day that Mr. Wilson is backed by the Spokane Railway.

The election of Mr. Beaven and Mayor Grant is looked upon as a foregone conclusion and that one or the other will head the poll. It is an edifying sight to see these two old friends running neck and neck in a race against opponents who are several rods in the rear. Dr. Milne and Frank Richards will keep close company with the leaders and it seems very probable their friends are working for it—that they will displace the whole of the Government ticket. With the election of their full ticket the Opposition could feel satisfied.

Mind Reading Extraordinary.

The exhibition given by mind-reader King at the Victoria last night was a wonderfully scientific one. Considered apart from a gratification of curiosity, the exhibitions of remarkable power by him prove that mankind is only on the verge of scientific research. Mr. King makes no pretense as to how he reads the thoughts of those he comes in contact with. He only knows he does it. A full description of the tests at last evening's performance would be tiresome, but a brief mention of one or two would be interesting. A committee composed of several of the principal business men of the city, by request of Mr. King, took seats on the stage. Two of them, then went with Mr. King behind the scenes, where he was blindfolded. Another of the committee collected seven articles from as many members of the audience and wrapping them up in a handkerchief, secreted the whole carefully. Mr. King was brought in, and taking the gentleman's hand who hid the articles, requested him to think of, or locate in his mind, where they were. The mind reader at once found the hidden things, and returned each separate one to the rightful owner. Another member of the committee wrote the name of a gentleman in the audience on a slip of paper, this being sealed up in an envelope. Mr. King described the personal appearance of the owner of the name, and then took the envelope to him. Many other interesting and curious tests were done, the exhibition being a most entertaining one.

Mention should also be made of the excellence of Mr. Alvah G. Salmon's piano playing, which in the intervals of the performance, delighted the audience. Mr. Salmon is without doubt one of the finest piano players that a Victoria audience has had the pleasure of listening to for some time. His extremely splendid, impromptu of sweet sounds drawn from the instrument being delightful in the extreme. Hearty encores followed each selection given by Mr. Salmon, who is certainly a peer among pianists.

Examinations.

The examinations of scholars who are desirous of entrance into the High School were complete to-day. Sixty-two sets of examination papers have been made out, and that number of anxious candidates will look forward to the date of the award with a deal of anxiety.

A Large Panther.

A giant panther of the male sex was shot near Goldstream this morning by Mr. James Phair. The cat is a big fellow, 8 feet in length, and it looks as though it had been feeding well on sheep, as is fat and powerful looking. The animal was brought to Victoria by the noon train, and the skin will probably be stuffed.

Takes a New Position.

Mr. Robt. Liddell, who for several years has been connected with the fire department, and who has for the past two years been foreman of No. 2 Company, has taken a position as third jailor at the provincial jail. On account of this he was compelled to resign from the fire department. He leaves with the best wishes of his former comrades.

Concerning Crematories.

Correspondence is at present being carried on by the civic officials with parties in the east in reference to the establishment of a crematory here to deal with the garbage and refuse of the city. The question of dealing with the garbage is one that certainly demands immediate attention and it is satisfactory to see that a move is being made in the matter.

Fine Flowers.

Several beautiful flowers were noticed on City Treasurer Kent's desk at the city hall to-day. The flowers were of the variety known as lilium Harrisonii, or Bermuda Lily, and were magnificent specimens of the floral beauties of Victoria. The blossoms were very large, some of them being all of six inches across, and with the delicate coloring and artistic contour of the petals looked most beautiful.

Wellington Mines.

The Wellington mine owners have by no means allowed their mines to become in an unsatisfactory condition, but on the contrary everything in and around the mines are being kept in perfect order, so that work may be commenced at any moment without the least delay. The new engine at No. 4 pit has been completed and the sheer legs are being raised for hoisting purposes.

Australian Coal.

A gentleman arriving in Nanaimo from San Francisco reports the coal market in that city in a flourishing condition. He states that a number of large vessels laden with Australian coal are continually arriving, and owing to the strike at Wellington it was feared at San Francisco that the strike would spread along the coast, and to be prepared for this event a large number of vessels have been chartered in the colonies to run in the coal trade between Australia and San Francisco. He thinks in three months time the market at San Francisco will be over supplied.

Victoria Flour Mill.

Bonusing a flour mill at Victoria, B. C., seems to have excited some surprise and indeed one sometimes hears that Province derided as a grain growing country. But this is far from correct, for some very extensive areas of the choicest land are there, such as the Spallumcheen and Mission valleys, each of them capable of supporting a good sized flour mill. There is within a fairly short distance of the city of Victoria enough wheat land to sustain yearly a flour mill of 200 barrels capacity, and the total of such land on the Island is very large. The area of choice land there and on the Mainland, is by no means small, and is capable of a very wide range of products, from beef to fruits.—Manitoba Colonist.

MORE ROYALTY COMING.

The Visit of Prince George of Wales to This Continent.

Prince George Frederick Ernest Albert of Wales will certainly visit Canada and the United States this summer. He is far more popular than his brother "Eddie," and now that his uncle, the Duke of Edinburgh, has been practically shelved, the navy looks forward to the speedy advancement of Prince George to high rank.

A short time ago he was given his first command—that of the Thrush, a first-class gunboat of 805 tons, of 1,300-horse power and carrying six guns. He has just sailed in the Thrush for Halifax, when he will go to New York. There he will be welcomed by the British Minister, Sir Julian Pauncefote, and Consul General Booker. It is said that he will be a guest of a well-know New Yorker at Newport, and that an invitation to visit Tuxedo Park has also been accepted.

The Thrush will then proceed to Fortress Monroe, Bermuda, and Jamaica. Prince George's first officer is a young gentleman of his own age, who, by his brilliant examination, and not by any court interest, was promoted two grades in rank at one swoop. This case of so rapid a promotion for sheer mental proficiency is without parallel in the annals of the English navy.

Gone for Good.

It is pretty generally believed in police circles that the robberies committed in this city during the Queen's birthday celebration were done by a youth named Craigie and a half-breed known as Peter Sawyers, both hard cases. Both were seen out canoeing the other evening, and one had several rings on his fingers. Warrants for their arrest were made out and the police went to arrest them, but on arrival where the supposed thieves were believed to be, it was found they were gone. It has since transpired that the two young men have gone away from the island in a canoe. The city is well quit of them, even at the price of their last escapade.
